"Dad" Richards came in Sunday from Duran, where he has been working on the new school building. He says the building is completed except the putting on of the metal ceiling, but the board has run out of funds, so the work is temporarily stopped. Duran has one of the finest and most up-to-date school buildings in the county. Dad is figuring on two more buildings in the little city and expects to be here only a few days before going back to work. Apparently there is some attraction there greater than the work, for Dad could find plenty of work here.

Manuel Sanchez went to Santa Fe Sunday in response to a summons as a federal juror.

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Amble autoed from Manzano Sunday evening and left for Albuquerque Monday morning.

Mrs. W. D. Dow was in yesterday morning from Tajique, shopping. She was accompanied on her return home by her sister-in-law, Miss Mabel Dow.

Celestino Ortiz left Sunday for Santa Fe to serve as a juror in the Federal court, and also to attend the meeting of the Republican Central Committee of which he is a member.

White-McGillivray

Miss Reba White and John McGillivray were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 2:30 at the parsonage of the Lead Avenue Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. Charles Oscar Beckman. Both are high contracting parties of Lucia, N. M., to which place they will return in a few days to make their home.—Albuquerque Morning Journal.

What Do You Mean?

In one of its editorial columns of last week's issue The Rio Grande Republican prints a "Warning" regarding the statement of O. A. Larrazolo in reference to his flopping from the Democratic side of the fence to the Republican side. Right beside it in the next column appears the following:—

The political renegade who turns his coat and goes over to the enemy in the hope of landing a job should remember that no party and no faction has any respect for men of his caliber; and that a past record however good is wiped off the slate when such a renegade seeks shelter beneath the frayed tent of the crowd he has damned consistently for years.—Exchange.

We merely rise to ask if the arrangement of the items was intentional or happen-stantial? Apparently there is some connection.

Whist Club

The Whist Club met at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. George Travis on Maple Avenue on Thursday afternoon, August 31. The rooms were tastefully decorated with sweet peas. Members present were Mesdames Kelley, Stubblefield, Minerman, Mason, Goodin, Van Stone, Senter, Cowgill, Garvin, Pickens, Rousseau, Simmons and Parrett. Visitors, Mrs. Simmons of Manitou, Oklahoma, Miss Perry of Colorado, and Mrs. Goodner and daughter, Alma.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in embroidery, conversation and cards and at four o'clock the hostess served an elegant four course luncheon in true eastern style, which was very much enjoyed by those present, as Mrs. Travis is noted for her excellent culinary accomplishments.

Santiago Archuleta was over from Mountainair Monday on Probate Court business.

G. H. VanStone and family went to Santa Fe Sunday, Mr. VanStone at the request of Uncle Sam's representative to serve as juror and Mrs. VanStone and children to visit her parents.

Death of Infant

On Monday afternoon the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Minerman, Little Delma May, was called away by death. She was born on July 28, and had grown into the affections of both mother and grandmother to a remarkable degree. About three weeks ago the little one was taken seriously ill, and appeared to have been recovering. But her life on earth was destined to be of very short duration. The little body was laid to rest in Estancia Cemetery yesterday afternoon, a number of friends showing their sincere sympathy in kind words and deeds. The little hands will beckon the father, mother and little Wilmer from the shores of the better land. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. A. Windsor.

The News joins a host of friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Through the News we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to our many friends who have proven themselves friends in need and friends indeed. May you in similar trouble find friends as staunch and true. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Minerman.

Juan de Dios Sanchez, commissioner from the third district of the county, returned home yesterday morning after having attended the meeting of the Board of Commissioners on Monday. Mr. Sanchez has announced himself as a candidate for assessor of Torrance county subject to the action of the Republican county convention. Mr. Sanchez is a leader among his people, being a close student and reader. His acquaintance over the county is large and he is sure to make a good race.

T. S. McGuire and family of Kentucky, came in Monday. Mr. Mc. has made several previous visits to the Valley and holds title to some good real estate here.

J. P. Dunlavy of Mountainair, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Mr. Underwood, of Pasadena, California, was a business visitor in Estancia Monday. Preston was kept busy shaking hands with old friends. Mr. Underwood is highly pleased with our valley and climate.

Judge E. R. Wright, George Sena, and Camilo Sanchez were southbound passengers last night, en route home from the Republican Lovefeast at Santa Fe Monday.

May Comes Back

Albert May, of Estancia, New Mexico, will start today on his return to the "Sunshine Valley". He has been visiting for two or three weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. May, and other relatives and friends.—Neoga News.

Albert arrived "right-side-up, with care, on Sunday noon's train, glad to get back to the "Sunshine Valley."

Tale of Woe

Before the final passage of the Statehood bill Delegate Andrews has been busily engaged pulling the wires for the New Mexico senatorship. After pulling every possible string to prevent the passage of the various statehood resolutions, he now comes out and claims the credit for securing statehood. This is a most amusing claim to many who know the facts in the case, and especially those who were present at Washington during the final stormy days, and were eye witnesses of his wonderful work for (?) statehood. Andrews is a great joke. The irregularity of his elections as Delegate to Congress is common knowledge, not only at home, but wherever he is known. It is also generally known that he has lost his grip on New Mexico, and is not considered an important factor in the counsels of his own part. More brainy, if not more cleanly men have succeeded him, and his name is "down and out." "Andrews and Statehood" was the slogan of two campaigns. His utter failure to make any showing along the line of statehood legislation has branded him as a fake and a fluke. Andrews is a candidate for senator. Just listen for his tale of woe.—Tucumcari Sun

Rev. T. A. Windsor came in from eastern New Mexico Monday where he has been on business for several days. Whether the reverend had too much "yaller legged" chicken or for some other cause, he was under the weather on his return.

Dad Richards made a trip to his farm northeast of town yesterday. His cane is headed and ripenidg nicely, but he says he will have to have a pack of hounds to corral it, as it is so scattering. The native grass which he had expected to cut, has been pastured so he cannot get any returns from this.

SLOGAN FOR NEW MEXICO IS CHOSEN

"Hurry, Hurry, You'll be late
Pack your grip and emigrate
Opportunities await Comers to the newest state."

—A. J. Loomis.

This quatrain received the first prize at the hands of the committee appointed by the Bureau of Immigration to choose a verse to be used in advertising the new state. The catch phrase contest proved an interesting affair, there being over six hundred phrases submitted. The committee of judges consisting of President G. L. Brooks of the Bureau of Immigration, E. Dana Johnson of the Morning Journal and W. E. Keleher of the Evening Herald, found their task almost stupendous. The design which would have received the five dollar prize was submitted anonymously, being the coat of arms of New Mexico with the words surrounding it "New Mexico, the Sunshine State." The phrase receiving second prominence was submitted by C. W. Fairchild of Santa Fe, formerly of Estancia. It is also a design with the words "New Mexico—Optimism, Opportunity, Opulence."

The third choice of the judges was by Editor Burnett of the Penasco Valley Press and is: "New Mexico—The Last West—The Best Southwest."

H. A. Coomer, general manager of the N. M. C., spent yesterday in Estancia on railroad business.

Mr. Boren, manager of the Duran Telephone Company and Mr. Barnett, a member of the Duran school board were Estancia visitors yesterday.

Jose R. Anaya, section foreman on the N. M. Central had the misfortune to break a bone in the little finger on the left hand, Monday evening, while loading ties. The car was loaded, but Anaya thought some of the ties projected too far over one side and was on the car, pushing the ties farther in. His hold slipped and he fell to the ground, falling on his left hand in such a manner as to break the bone.

H. B. Hamilton, attorney of Capitan, was a southbound passenger last night en route home from Santa Fe.
